Coming to YOUR universe September 3-6!

On Labor Day Weekend, DJF will share the festival with the world on DJF's Jazz Planet.tv – streaming live and taped performances, news flashes, interviews and behind-the-scenes commentary. Our cyberspace mission will show Detroit as the jazz hotbed that it is, get millions of eyes on our musicians, and help put jazz back in the MAINstream where it belongs!

In partnership with Livestream.com, DJF's Jazz Planet will make it possible for users from London to Afghanistan to skype, tweet and facebook messages directly to fans, artists and media hosts in Detroit. We want you to launch into orbit with us!

The shows allow artists to share some of their special projects – not just their performances – but what inspired and what went into their works, with you and the world. Up close and personal. "It nurtures the art form in ways we could only dream of a few years ago," says Pontremoli. "Outside of being in Detroit, it's the best seat on the planet! And if you tune in this year, we guarantee you'll come here in 2011."
